Photographs. For what was to have been the year of the Olympic Games, this edition features photographs from California's sporting past. On the cover: The Skillicorn all-brother baseball team. The team, all sons of George and Mary Skillicorn with father George as manager, played exhibition baseball in the Monterey area, 1920–21. The brothers were all single births, and the family had four daughters as well. Page 3, baseball uniform, 1890. Page 4, skiing at Antelope Springs, Amador Co., ca. 1940. How to use this publication

The statistical tables, roughly the first half of this publication, are arranged by type of library and include such information as persons served, staffing, income, expenditure, collections and activities. Public libraries are divided into six categories by size of population.

In the other half of this book, the directory section, libraries of all types are arranged in one alphabet, by city, with library name, address, director and other information provided.

The systems list includes library associations and organizations having a fixed headquarters address, library networks, reference centers, and systems organized under the California Library Services Act. The alphabetical address list of public libraries follows.

Three indexes are provided. The first is a subject index to special collections in reporting libraries. Next is an index to the names of library directors. The volume concludes with a name index for locating libraries in the tables and in the directory section. Alphabetical arrangement is letter by letter, not word by word.

This publication is issued in horizontal format for best presentation of the statistical tables, and for ease of opening and use.

Data for this publication are gathered from annual reports submitted by public, academic, special, state agency and county law libraries. They are published for the most part as submitted, though efforts have been made to correct and update entries insofar as possible, as noted below.

Data from cooperative public library systems are presented for the first time in this year's directory. It has always been difficult to assemble this information in the past, as reporting has been limited to the requirements and formats of the various funding sources: federal Library Services and Construction Act, state California Library Services Act, other federal demonstration projects or local sources. There was no one way to view systems as a whole.

A new, comprehensive report form was developed to record all activities of a system, its associated intertype library network, and any system-wide library demonstrations. The results are displayed on three tables new this year. System data are not fully comparable, and comparisons should be made with caution, but a start has been made and both the form and the reporting should improve in coming years.

Of all local government services, parks and libraries were hardest hit by funding reductions caused by Proposition 13. With final information for FY 1979 and estimates for 1980, we find that compared with the last year of "full funding", FY 1978, public library hours of service have dropped 23%, the number of library outlets has declined 22%, and staffing levels are down 18%. Compared with the previous year, public libraries in FY 1979 report a 9% drop in expenditure in actual dollars, unadjusted for inflation, and a decline in circulation of 12%.

Public library income tables have been revised this year to record the growing importance of state funds, both the legislative "bail out" to local government and reimbursements to libraries through the California Library Services Act. Federal income sources are limited almost entirely to general revenue sharing.

Several public libraries have moved upward in the population groupings, notably the San Bernardino County Library which has joined Group 1, the over 500,000 population category. Calistoga Public Library merged with Napa City-County Library, but the Woodland branch of Yolo County Library, merged last year, pulled out and was re-established as the independent Woodland Public Library. The total number of public libraries remains 168.

For fiscal year 1978–1979 we report 985 California libraries, as follows:

- 168 public libraries with 2,911 public service outlets, down 17% from last year's 3,489 outlets. By jurisdiction, there are 44 county, 104 city, eight combined city-county, and 12 district public libraries. By level of service, there are:

    158 main libraries. Administrative headquarters are not included, and some county or district libraries have no main library.

    442 branch libraries. A branch is an extension library open some part of each of five days a week, has at least 1,400 square feet of floor space, a general book collection of at least 7,000 volumes, and is staffed with the equivalent of at least one librarian and one clerical employee during hours open for service.

    436 library stations. A station is a library structure smaller than a branch, providing a lower level of service. This year's total of 1,036 main, branch and station libraries is down 10% from last year's 1,147 libraries.

    1,875 mobile library stops. A mobile library stop is a location visited by a bookmobile or other traveling library. This year's number of stops is down 20% from last year's 2,342. There are 77 mobile libraries in opeation this year, a 21% reduction from the 98 of last year.

- 168 academic libraries:

    29 state supported libraries.

    95 community college libraries.

    44 private academic libraries.

- 509 special libraries, including 63 operated by the federal government:
    - 21 popular libraries at U.S. armed forces installations.
    - 30 legal libraries.
    - 117 medical libraries.
    - 13 religious libraries.
    - 169 libraries operated by for profit organizations.
    - 159 libraries operated by non-profit organizations.
- 82 state agency libraries:
    - 30 resident libraries at state institutions and schools.
    - 11 legal libraries.
    - 13 medical libraries.
    - 28 special libraries.
- 58 county law libraries.

Public libraries are grouped into six categories, by size of population served: (1) over 500,000; (2) 100,000 to 500,000; (3) 50,000 to 100,000; (4) 25,000 to 50,000; (5) 12,500 to 25,000; and (6) under 12,500. These category numbers appear in the directory entry for the library, and in the library name index. Subscript numbers in column headings, (A8, B1, etc.,), refer to numbered lines of the report forms, indicating exactly what entry is published. Preprints of the public library tables were sent to the reporting libraries for validation, and their corrections incorporated in this published version wherever possible.

The first public library table is "Population and staffing". The population figure used is either the estimate of the Population Research Unit of the State Department of Finance or, in the case of library districts and other special cases, a local estimate by the library based upon a special census, planning study, or similar source. Where the local figure will better represent the library's true service area, it is published and marked with an asterisk (*). The area served in square miles, the total number of service outlets, and the total weekly hours in which all outlets are open for service are shown.

The second public library table is "Income", with a breakout of local, state and federal sources.

The third public library table is "Operating expenditure". Some libraries no longer break out expenditure for various types of library materials, so a subtotal of all library materials is published. "Total operating expenditure" includes all normal service expenses, but not capital outlay for vehicles, equipment, sites or buildings.

The fourth public library table, "Total expenditure", is an extension of the third table, including capital outlay and the grand total. The percentage of total operating expenditure, (column C12 on table three), spent for library materials and for salaries of library staff is computed. Column C17, "Services, benefits not charged", reports the estimate of the value of services and supplies which benefit the library but are not charged to the library budget. This figure is important for comparability, as some libraries pay for maintenance, accounting or other services from their budget and others do not, but all must obtain the services in one way or another in order to operate.

The "Equivalent operating expenditure", (C18), is the total of columns C12 and C17, and the best figure to use in comparing the expenditure of one library with another. The "Equivalent expenditure per capita", (C19) divides the equivalent operating expenditure by the population served, to indicate a dollar amount spent per person by the jurisdiction for library service.

Public library table number five is the "Salary survey 1979", which reports the monthly salary range in whole dollars, beginning step and final step, as of September 1, 1979, for eight selected professional and five support staff classifications. Where a single figure is given, the position has a flat rate, no monthly range.

The sixth public library table, "Collections", and the seventh, "Activities", are unchanged from last year.

Academic libraries are arranged by type of jurisdiction in three groups. Group 1 are state supported libraries, the University of California and the California State University and Colleges systems. Group 2 are community colleges. Group 3 are private institutions. For each group, library statistics are published in four tables: "Staffing and income", "Expenditure", "Collections", and "Activities". Data for the CSUC libraries were supplied by the chancellor's office, not by the libraries themselves.

Special library information is displayed differently this year. Rather than listing all special libraries together alphabetically, running to hundreds of libraries over several pages, they have been grouped into four categories by type: for profit organizations, non-profit organizations, legal and medical libraries, and federal government libraries. This displays similar libraries together, and should make the tables more meaningful and easier to use.

Special library information is divided into two tables, "Staffing, expenditure and activities" and "Collections". Expenditures are given, where provided by the library. Abbreviations for library names are assigned both here and on the academic library tables, and the same short names are used in the index to special collections. They are identified in the library name index and in the directory entry for the library.

State agency library information is displayed in the same manner as that of special libraries. Included are residential and special libraries operated by state government agencies, hospitals and institutions, including the State Library, but not the University of California nor the California State University and Colleges systems, whose libraries are found in the academic libraries tables. Financial data reported for the State Library include both state and federal funds.

County law library information was gathered by the State Library Law Library, and distributed to participating libraries in greater detail in preprint. Libraries are arranged in order of number of attorneys practicing in the county, not alphabetically.

The directory section contains name and address information as supplied by the libraries on their annual reports for fiscal year 1978–1979. Wherever possible, information has been updated to final copy deadline, March 1980. Some libraries which did not complete the report this year but are known to be still in operation are included with the entry, "No report". They, and others who returned the report but provided insufficient statistical information, do not appear in the statistics tables.

Directory listings are alphabetical by city. Within a city, they are alphabetical by name of library, or name of organization operating the library. Each reporting library is listed once. Library organizations and systems having a separate headquarters address are also listed. County library branches in cities over 12,500 population, and a very few other specialized branch libraries, are also listed. A complete listing of all branches of all libraries would be prohibitively costly to publish, but the information is reported on the annual forms and may be consulted at the State Library.

Libraries are coded by type according to a system adapted from that of the American Library Directory:

A – Armed forces popular library
C – College or university library
I – Institutional resident library
J – Junior college or community college library
L – Law library
M – Medical library
P – Public library, subdivided:
  PB – Branch public library
  PC – County public library
  PH – High school district public library
  PL – Library district public library
  PM – Municipal public library
R – Religious library
S – Special library, business, scholarly or other.

The short name used for statistical tables and subject index appears below the library type code. On public library entries, the population size group number appears below the short name. Library name, address, (with mailing address, if different, in parentheses), and telephone number are set off in a group to the right of the coding. The name of the library director appears next, followed for most entries by indications of library size and hours of opening. A brief statement of interlibrary loan policy is published for those libraries supplying one. Listing of membership in California Library Services Act systems, library networks, consortia or other library service groups concludes the entry.

The library name index is arranged alphabetically letter by letter, not word by word. Academic, special and state agency libraries are entered by the short form names used on statistical tables and in the subject index. This index thus serves as a key to short form names, directing the reader to the full library name and listing by city in the directory section.

California State Library

Established by the first Legislature in 1850, the California State Library is a division of the State Department of Education. The State Librarian is appointed by the Governor. The role of the State Library is to provide library services to the Legislature, state agencies and administration; to administer state and federal programs of financial aid to public libraries; to provide consulting and interlibrary services in backup of local libraries; and to offer special client services to disadvantaged and handicapped citizens.

The collections and services of the State Library are available to all, for in-library use. Materials are circulated to anyone in the state through local libraries by means of interlibrary loan. State officers and employees may borrow materials directly.

State Library services are provided from three Bureaus, each directed by a Chief of Service. Library Development Services Bureau is the field arm, including consultants and specialists who work with state institutions, public libraries and systems throughout the state. State Library Services Bureau sections provide reader services to the public. Technical Services Bureau sections support the operations of the rest of the State Library. Additional sections, supporting library administration, report to the Assistant State Librarian. The State Library is administered by the State Librarian.

The State Library is housed in three locations. Administration and most services are in the Library and Courts Building on Capitol Mall Circle between 9th and 10th Streets. (Mailing address: P. O. Box 2037, Sacramento, CA 95809.) Library hours are 8 am to 5 pm weekdays, closed Saturday, Sunday and holidays. Books for the Blind and Physically Handicapped is located at 600 Broadway, Sacramento, CA 95818. The Sutro Library, a branch of the State Library, is located at 2495 Golden Gate Ave. near Fulton St., San Francisco, CA 94118, on the campus of the University of San Francisco. Its hours are 10 am to 5 pm weekdays.

How to use this publication

The statistical tables, roughly the first half of this publication, are arranged by type of library and include such information as persons served, staffing, income, expenditure, collections and activities. Public libraries are divided into six categories by size of population.

In the other half of this book, the directory section, libraries of all types are arranged in one alphabet, by city, with library name, address, director and other information provided.

The systems list includes library associations and organizations having a fixed headquarters address, library networks, reference centers, and systems organized under the California Library Services Act. The alphabetical address list of public libraries follows.

Three indexes are provided. The first is a subject index to special collections in reporting libraries. Next is an index to the names of library directors. The volume concludes with a name index for locating libraries in the tables and in the directory section. Alphabetical arrangement is letter by letter, not word by word.

This publication is issued in horizontal format for best presentation of the statistical tables, and for ease of opening and use.

Data for this publication are gathered from annual reports submitted by public, academic, special, state agency and county law libraries, and by CLSA library systems. They are published for the most part as submitted, though efforts have been made to correct and update entries insofar as possible, as noted below.

For fiscal year 1979–1980 we report 943 California libraries, as follows:

- 168 public libraries with 3,226 public service outlets, up 11% from last year's 2,911 outlets. By jurisdiction, there are 44 county, 104 city, eight combined city-county, and 12 district public libraries. By level of service, there are:

  162 main libraries. Administrative headquarters are not included, and some county or district libraries have no main library.

  559 branch libraries. A branch is an extension library open some part of each of five days a week, has at least 1,400 square feet of floor space, a general book collection of at least 7,000 volumes, and is staffed with the equivalent of at least one librarian and one clerical employee during hours open for service.

  393 library stations. A station is a library structure smaller than a branch, providing a lower level of service.

  2,112 mobile library stops. A mobile library stop is a location visited by a bookmobile or other traveling library. There are 84 mobile libraries in operation this year.

- 162 academic libraries:

  29 state supported libraries.

  90 community college libraries.

  43 private academic libraries.

- 487 special libraries, including 55 operated by the federal government:

  18 popular libraries at U.S. armed forces installations.

  29 legal libraries.

  115 medical libraries.

  13 religious libraries.

  162 libraries operated by for profit organizations.

  150 libraries operated by non-profit organizations.

- 68 state agency libraries:

  29 resident libraries at state institutions and schools.

  8 legal libraries.

  10 medical libraries.

  21 special libraries.

- 58 county law libraries.

Public libraries are grouped into six categories, by size of population served: (1) over 500,000; (2) 100,000 to 500,000; (3) 50,000 to 100,000; (4) 25,000 to 50,000; (5) 12,500 to 25,000; and (6) under 12,500. These category numbers appear in the directory entry for the library, and in the library name index. Subscript numbers in column headings, (A8, B1, etc.,), refer to numbered lines of the report forms, indicating exactly what entry is published. The dash (—) is used for zero, or "not applicable". The entry "NA" is used to mean Not Available, where the reporting library could not supply the data. Preprints of the public library tables were sent to the reporting libraries for validation, and their corrections incorporated in this published version wherever possible.

The first public library table is "Population and staffing". The population figure used is either the estimate of the Population Research Unit of the State Department of Finance or, in the case of library districts and other special cases, a local estimate by the library based upon a special census, planning study, or similar source. Where the local figure will better represent the library's true service area, it is published and marked with an asterisk (*). The area served in square miles, the total number of service outlets, and the total weekly hours in which all outlets are open for service are shown.

The second public library table is "Income", with a breakout of local, state and federal sources.

The third public library table is "Operating expenditure". Some libraries no longer break out expenditure for various types of library materials, so a subtotal of all library materials is published. "Total operating expenditure" includes all normal service expenses, but not capital outlay for vehicles, equipment, sites or buildings.

The fourth public library table, "Total expenditure", is an extension of the third table, including capital outlay and the grand total. The percentage of total operating expenditure spent for library materials and for salaries of library staff is computed. Column C17, "Services, benefits not charged", reports the estimate of the value of services and supplies which benefit the library but are not charged to the library budget. This figure is important for comparability, as some libraries pay for maintenance, accounting or other services from their budget and others do not, but all must obtain the services in one way or another in order to operate.

The "Equivalent operating expenditure", (C18), is the total of columns C12 and C17, and the best figure to use in comparing the expenditure of one library with another. The "Equivalent expenditure per capita", (C19) divides the equivalent operating expenditure by the population served, to indicate a dollar amount spent per person by the jurisdiction for library service.

Public library table number five is the "Salary survey 1980", which reports the monthly salary range in whole dollars, beginning step and final step, as of September 1, 1980, for eight selected professional and five support staff classifications. Where a single figure is given, the position has a flat rate, no monthly range.

The sixth public library table, "Collections", and the seventh, "Activities", are unchanged from last year.

Academic libraries are arranged by type of jurisdiction in three groups. Group 1 are state supported libraries, the University of California and the California State University and Colleges systems. Group 2 are community colleges. Group 3 are private institutions. For each group, library statistics are published in four tables: "Staffing and income", "Expenditure", "Collections", and "Activities". Data for the CSUC libraries were supplied by the chancellor's office, not by the libraries themselves.

Special libraries are grouped into four categories by type: for profit organizations, non-profit organizations, legal and medical libraries, and federal government libraries. Special library information is divided into two tables, "Staffing, expenditure and activities" and "Collections". Expenditures are given, where provided by the library. Abbreviations for library names are assigned both here and on the academic library tables, and the same short names are used in the index to special collections. They are identified in the library name index and in the directory entry for the library.

State agency library information is displayed in the same manner as that of special libraries. Included are residential and special libraries operated by state government agencies, hospitals and institutions, including the State Library, but not the University of California nor the California State University and Colleges systems, whose libraries are found in the academic libraries tables. Financial data reported for the State Library include both state and federal funds.

County law library information was gathered by the State Library Law Library, and distributed to participating libraries in greater detail in preprint. Libraries are arranged in order of number of attorneys practicing in the county, not alphabetically.

The directory section contains name and address information as supplied by the libraries on their annual reports. Wherever possible, information has been updated to final copy deadline, February 1981. Some libraries which did not complete the report this year but are known to be still in operation are included with the entry, "No report". They, and others who returned the report but provided insufficient statistical information, do not appear in the statistics tables.

Directory listings are alphabetical by city. Within a city, they are alphabetical by name of library, or name of organization operating the library. Each reporting library is listed once. Library organizations and systems having a separate headquarters address are also listed. County library branches in cities over 12,500 population, and a very few other specialized branch libraries, are also listed. A complete listing of all branches of all libraries would be prohibitively costly to publish, but the information is reported on the annual forms and may be consulted at the State Library.

Libraries are coded by type according to a system adapted from that of the American Library Directory:

A – Armed forces popular library
C – College or university library
I – Institutional resident library
J – Junior college or community college library
L – Law library
M – Medical library
P – Public library, subdivided:
  PB – Branch public library
  PC – County public library
  PH – High school district public library
  PL – Library district public library
  PM – Municipal public library
R – Religious library
S – Special library, business, scholarly or other.

The short name used for statistical tables and subject index appears below the library type code. On public library entries, the population size group number appears below the short name. Library name, address, (with mailing address, if different, in parentheses), and telephone number are set off in a group to the right of the coding. The name of the library director appears next, followed for most entries by indications of library size and hours of opening. A brief statement of interlibrary loan policy is published for those libraries supplying one. Listing of membership in California Library Services Act systems, library networks, consortia or other library service groups concludes the entry.

The library name index is arranged alphabetically letter by letter, not word by word. Academic, special and state agency libraries are entered by the short form names used on statistical tables and in the subject index. This index thus serves as a key to short form names, directing the reader to the full library name and listing by city in the directory section.

California State Library

Established by the first Legislature in 1850, the California State Library is a division of the State Department of Education. The State Librarian is appointed by the Governor. The role of the State Library is to provide library services to the Legislature, state agencies and administration; to administer state and federal programs of financial aid to public libraries; to provide consulting and interlibrary services in backup of local libraries; and to offer special client services to disadvantaged and handicapped citizens.

The collections and services of the State Library are available to all, for in-library use. Materials are circulated to anyone in the state through local libraries by means of interlibrary loan. State officers and employees may borrow materials directly.

State Library services are provided from two Bureaus, each directed by a Chief of Service. Library Development Services Bureau is the field arm, including consultants and specialists who work with state institutions, public libraries and systems throughout the state. State Library Services Bureau sections provide reader services to the public and support the operations of the rest of the State Library. Additional sections, supporting library administration, report to the Assistant State Librarian. The State Library is administered by the State Librarian.

The State Library is housed in three locations. Administration and most services are in the Library and Courts Building on Capitol Mall Circle between 9th and 10th Streets. (Mailing address: P. O. Box 2037, Sacramento, CA 95809.) Library hours are 8 am to 5 pm weekdays, closed Saturday, Sunday and holidays. Books for the Blind and Physically Handicapped is located at 600 Broadway, Sacramento, CA 95818. The Sutro Library, a branch of the State Library, is located at 2495 Golden Gate Ave. near Fulton St., San Francisco, CA 94118, on the campus of the University of San Francisco. Its hours are 10 am to 5 pm weekdays.
